

Battalion Chief Tom Vallebuona,
Staten Island, Navy pier:

«And it just went right across right into the building. It looked like it got sucked into the building. You couldn't even see it disintegrate. It just went so fast and it looked like it just disappeared in the building and I heard it seconds later.»

Fox employee Mark Burnback:

«There was definitely a blue logo, it was like a circular logo on the front of the plane. Uh towards the uh, yeah definitely towards the front. Um, it definitely did not look like a commercial plane, I didn't see any windows on the side. [...]»

A British newspaper stated
«...some eyewitnesses reported hearing another explosion just before the structure crumbled. Police said that it looked almost like a 'planned implosion'.»

William Rodriguez (damals 44 Jahre alt, seit 20 Jahren Hausmeister beim WTC):

«Als ich den Schall der Explosion hörte, vibrierte der Boden unter meinen Füßen, fingen die Wände an zu brechen und alles fing an zu beben. (...)»

Sekunden nach der ersten massiven Explosion unten im Keller während der Fußboden noch bebte, höre ich eine andere Explosion von weit oben.»

Controlled Demolition

Experte:

Buildings do fall vertically like Building 7, when destroyed by controlled demolition.

Building 7's documented vertical plunge and tidy rubble pile with exterior wall fragments on top are exactly the kinds of results that controlled demolitions achieve through careful engineering.

Larry Silverstein, leaseholder of the destroyed WTC complex:

«I remember getting a call from the fire department commander, telling me that they were not sure they were gonna be able to contain the fire, and I said, "We've had such terrible loss of life, maybe the smartest thing to do is pull it." And they made that decision to pull and we watched the building collapse.»

«Building 7 was one of New York City's larger buildings. (It) occupied an entire city block and rose over 600 ft. above street level.

At the time of its destruction, it exclusively housed government agencies and financial institutions. It contained offices of the IRS, Secret Service, and SEC.

It also housed then-Mayor Giuliani's Office of Emergency Management, and its emergency command center on the 23rd floor. This floor received 15 million dollars worth of renovations, including independent and secure air and water supplies, and bullet and bomb resistant windows designed to withstand 200 MPH winds. The 1993 bombing must have been part of the rationale for the command center, which overlooked the Twin Towers, a prime terrorist target.

How curious that on the day of the attack, Giuliani and his Entourage set up shop in a different headquarters, abandoning the special bunker designed precisely for such an event. »
